

GUNNING

A creative coworking environment based on design thinking: the integration of people, technology and business to create new ideas and solve problems. We apply the principles of good design - considered, responsible, intelligent design - to translate initial ideas into something more tangible, leveraging the skill sets and knowledge of our members to mitigate risks from the start.

We have a high-calibre network of people who invest in seeing each other succeed. Our members are ambitious, accomplished, experienced and modest and our open-plan layout fuels a culture of collaboration and participation. Desk Space is proof that productivity is infectious and success breeds success.
